

Christian Counselors List for Michigan

This is a partial list of Christian/SDA-Christian counselors in Michigan. Information on these pages is not guaranteed to be accurate or complete. Michigan Conference of Seventh Day Adventists does not endorse any of the counselors listed on these pages or collect any fees associated with their services. These counselors are listed because they advertise themselves as licensed Christian counselors. They are not affiliated with the Seventh-day Adventist church. Many of the names have been recommended by SDA clients or are active members of the American Association of Christian Counselors or Focus on the Family's Referral list. This is only a guide. Christian counseling is most effective when you are consistently working with a counselor for a period of time until the problem you are seeking help for is improved or resolved. Most will have voicemail when you call and return your call after they are available. If you find that any of the counselors listed is no longer in business or have any other concerns to report, please email Allie at agayle@misda.org.
